Letter to the Governor

Dear Governor Hogan:

Thank you for establishing the Regulatory Reform Commission, by executive order on July 9, 2015, to examine and make recommendations over the course of three years on streamlining Maryland's regulatory environment. The Commission also thanks you for the tremendous progress on the recommendations made in our Initial Report including:

- a robust Customer Service Initiative to improve the customer service experience for Marylanders across state agencies;
- the appointment of former Anne Arundel County Executive and State Senator Robert R. Neall as a senior advisor to the Governor and Director of the Office of Transformation and Renewal; and
- the creation of the Commission to Modernize State Procurement to review all aspects of the state's procurement process.

Our 2016 report represents the first simultaneous comprehensive review of the state's regulations in several decades. The Commission worked with state agencies to identify regulations that could be repealed or amended in the Code of Maryland Regulations while safeguarding the health, safety, and welfare of the public. On April 8, 2016, Lt. Governor Boyd K. Rutherford issued a memorandum creating four workgroups under the Commission: Environment & Land Use; Financial Services; Occupations & Business Licensing; and Health Care. The workgroups reviewed regulations affecting their respective subject areas and identified regulations that can be repealed or amended.

The Commission has worked diligently, and is pleased to present the second of three reports with its findings and recommendations.

Sincerely,

Abba David Poliakoff
Chair

An Introspective
Review

Executive Summary

The Regulatory Reform Commission was established by executive order on July 9, 2015 to examine and make recommendations over the course of three years on streamlining Maryland's regulatory environment. The Commission's 2015 report to Governor Hogan largely dealt with an evaluation of Maryland's current regulatory environment, structural Executive branch inefficiencies, and implementing customer service standards across all State agencies. The 2016 Report focuses much more heavily on specific Maryland regulations that can either be streamlined, repealed or amended while safeguarding the health, safety, and welfare of the public. The Commission held six regional meetings in 2015 and two organizational meetings in 2016.

Workgroups

On April 8, 2016, Lt. Governor Boyd K. Rutherford issued a memorandum creating four workgroups under the Commission: Environment & Land Use chaired by Secretaries Mark Belton and Ben Grumbles; Financial Services chaired by Secretary R. Michael Gill and Insurance Commissioner Al Redmer; Occupations & Business Licensing chaired by Secretary Kelly Schulz; and Health Care chaired by Secretary Van Mitchell. He asked each workgroup to review regulations affecting their respective subject area and identify regulations that could be repealed or amended.

The workgroups presented 187 regulatory proposals with the Environment & Land Use workgroup submitting 27 proposals; the Financial Services workgroup submitting 37 proposals; the Occupations & Business Licensing workgroup submitting 90 proposals; and the Health Care workgroup submitting 33 proposals.

The regulatory changes proposed by the workgroups fall into the following four categories: 68 regulatory changes that are streamlining and clarifying in nature; 42 that focuses on modernization such as the use of electronic submissions; 56 are considered obsolete; and 21 are state or federal statutory requirements.

2016 Highlights

Best Available Technology for Removal of Nitrogen (BAT)

- Earlier this year Governor Hogan directed the Maryland Department of the Environment to remove the universal requirement that Best Available Technology for Removal of Nitrogen (BAT) systems be installed outside the Critical Area for all new construction or replacement septic systems, unless the local governing body enacts code in order to protect public health or waters of the State, or the system design is 5,000 gallons per day or greater. This change allows greater flexibility to achieve the same level of reductions through other means.

Streamlining and Clarifying Revisions

- The Motor Vehicle Administration is revising the regulatory requirements for vehicle dealerships and salespeople. These changes will update and modernize the regulatory language (for instance allowing for electronic retention and submission of records), remove outdated or irrelevant references, and add flexibility to the licensing period.

Modernization and Electronic Submissions

- To improve customer service, the Maryland Department of the Environment and Maryland Department of Transportation amended regulations regarding the Vehicle Emissions Inspection Program (VEIP) to expand the use of emerging technologies and provide opportunities to enact driver-friendly improvements.
- The licensing regulations for various provider types overseen by the Office of Health Care Quality (OHCQ) will be amended to allow for the electronic submission of both initial and renewal license application, which will save providers the costs and delays that result from being required to submit paper applications via mail or facsimile.

Obsolete References

- The Real Estate Commission under the Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation will eliminate a list of distance learning methods (compact disc, computer, disk, etc.) and cross references methods named in statute as well as any method approved by the Maryland Real Estate Commission.

State or Federal Statutory Requirements

- The Maryland Insurance Administration will be updating the scope of the filing requirements regulation to include Administration review of a carrier's failure to act in good faith in the handling of an individual disability claim based on the 2016 passage of House Bill 990.

Commission and Duties

Maryland Regulatory Reform Commission

Governor Larry Hogan has consistently stated that one of the major goals of the Hogan-Rutherford Administration is to transform Maryland into a business-friendly state, thereby enabling Maryland to attract, retain, and foster the development of businesses and create jobs. To help accomplish this, Governor Hogan signed an Executive Order on July 9, 2015, constituting the Maryland Regulatory Reform Commission. The mission of the Commission is to: (1) communicate with the business community and identify issues relating to state government regulations that impose unreasonable burdens upon employers operating in the state, and (2) recommend regulatory reforms to the Governor.

The Governor appointed Lt. Governor Boyd K. Rutherford as an ex-officio member of the Commission, and Abba D. Poliakoff of Baltimore City serves as Chair. The Governor also appointed a diverse group of Commission members from various regions of the state with differing backgrounds and all of whom are experienced in business. The Commission began its work in August 2015, and conducted six public meetings in different regions of the state in order to give all Marylanders an opportunity to appear in person, share their experiences, and make their recommendations to the Commission for reforming the state's regulatory environment.

Focus of the Commission

The Commission's overriding mission is to identify issues resulting in an unreasonable regulatory burden and climate upon employers operating in this state, while acknowledging the balance required to preserve the health, safety, and welfare of Marylanders.

In that regard, the Commission's regulatory review falls into two major categories:

- First, as to substantive regulations, the Commission seeks to identify regulations that are redundant, unreasonable, unnecessary, unduly burdensome or obsolete, and to moderate, eliminate or better relate them to protect the interests that they were designed to safeguard.
- Second, as to process, the Commission seeks to simplify, streamline and shorten the regulatory process by, among other things, shortening review times, eliminating duplicative filings and procedures, and instituting a customer service and customer-friendly environment.

An improved business environment makes Maryland more attractive to employers and promotes job creation. Streamlined or diminished regulations reduce the costs of doing business and permits companies to focus their resources on their own growth, which can accelerate business development, enhance access to capital, increase employment opportunities, and strengthen Maryland's tax base.

Commission Outreach

At its inception, the Commission was tasked with holding a series of public outreach meetings around the state in order to meet people in their home communities and listen to issues presented regarding how the regulatory environment affects their businesses. Concurrently, the Governor directed all agency heads to evaluate their regulations, streamline their processes and better serve the people in a manner that protects the interests of Maryland residents and accommodates the regulatory concerns expressed by employers.

In addition, letters were sent on behalf of the Governor to major business organizations, local chambers of commerce, trade associations, a wide range of individuals and businesses holding licenses, business groups in the state representing thousands of businesses, to the section counsels of the Maryland State Bar Association, and to a large number of employers soliciting their recommendations for improving the regulatory environment. The Commission also reached out to all county executives and many of the local government elected officials and requested their participation in the Commission's process.

The Commission continues to provide a website and email address for public participation. Comments and recommendations can be submitted directly to the Commission at regulatoryreform.maryland.gov or by email at regulatory.reform@maryland.gov.

Section II:
Executive
Initiatives

Governor's Customer Service Initiative

On June 9, 2016, Governor Larry Hogan announced a Customer Service Initiative to improve the customer service experience for Marylanders. It consist of three core deliverables:

- A renewed focus on a strong service culture in state agencies;
- Improved customer service training for state employees; and
- The establishment of new service performance metrics, which will allow the Hogan administration and all Marylanders to track improvements in customer service over time.

The Initiative also includes a Customer Service Promise with specific commitments to the way state agencies interact with the public.

Governor Hogan appointed a team to coordinate this effort, with support from the Governor's Customer Service Workgroup. The Workgroup originated from the seven Commerce Cabinet agencies, and conducted research on customer service best practices and consumer expectations. In order to accomplish the Governor's goals, 38 state agencies were tasked with the following:

- Prominently displaying the Customer Service Promise at each entrance to building(s), in public spaces, in employee gathering places, on agency websites, and on social media platforms;
- Selecting a designee to be the Customer Service liaison. Given the importance the Governor has attached to this effort, the liaison is someone who reports directly to the agency head and has decision-making authority. Going forward, the team we will meet with the agency liaisons several times a year to share best practices, provide support and address questions and concerns;
- Completing a customer service inventory and coordinating with the Governor's Office of Performance Improvement. These inventories capture all of the services each agency provides to customers – both internal and external – so that progress can be tracked in improving customer service delivery.

- Developing a customized customer service plan for each agency. These plans will become an integral part of the strategic vision for each agency. They contain measurable steps to achieve the three core deliverables (vision, training, and metrics), include appropriate customer service performance elements and standards for employees' performance evaluation, and outline an incentive and recognition program for employees who provide excellent customer service (plan summaries are now posted on agency websites);
- Developing a timeline by which agencies will provide all employees the required customer service training. All employees are to be trained as soon as possible, with all training completed no later than October 1, 2017. While each agency will need to tailor its training to meet its specific customer service needs, all training will incorporate a core curriculum of standardized principles and expectations, including the values embodied in the Customer Service Promise;
- Several "train the trainer" sessions have been provided, aimed at those agencies that do not have their own in-house trainers. This will continue into 2017 as needed. A Trainers Workgroup has also been established to share training information and work together on a statewide training course that would be relevant for all state employees; and
- Providing all customers a satisfaction survey after they interact with an agency. The Governor's Office of Performance Improvement worked with the Department of Information Technology to implement this statewide online survey, with links from agency websites and employee email signatures.

The Governor's Customer Service Workgroup will continue to work with the Regulatory Reform Commission, sharing the successes and challenges, as they work to make the State of Maryland more customer friendly.

THE CUSTOMER SERVICE PROMISE

The State of Maryland pledges to provide constituents, businesses, customers, and stakeholders with services in the following manner:

- Friendly and Courteous: We will be helpful and supportive and have a positive attitude and passion for what we do.
- Timely and Responsive: We will be proactive, take initiative, and anticipate your needs.
- Accurate and Consistent: We will always aim for 100% accuracy, and be consistent in how we interpret and implement state policies and procedures.
- Accessible and Convenient: We will continue to simplify and improve access to information and resources.
- Truthful and Transparent: We will advance a culture of honesty, clarity and trust.

Creation of the Office of Transformation and Renewal

Following the release of the initial report of the Regulatory Reform Commission, Governor Hogan appointed former Anne Arundel County Executive and State Senator Robert R. Neall as a senior advisor to the Governor and Director of the Office of Transformation and Renewal.

As head of the Office of Transformation and Renewal, Mr. Neall is leading a multi-year effort to optimize government departments and agencies within the executive branch. Working closely with members of the Cabinet as well as the legislature, Mr. Neall's primary focus is on three areas: efficiency improvements, greater accountability and performance benchmarks, and improved customer services throughout Maryland state government.

In the 40 years since the last major re-organization of the executive branch, Maryland's government has sprawled to include 23 executive branch departments, eight coordinating offices, 70 independent agencies, and over 550 boards and commissions.

The Commission's initial report concluded that agencies are working within an antiquated system that lacks consistency and communication. The report also noted significant overlapping regulatory jurisdiction between state agencies. Overall, the report called for a comprehensive review of Maryland's state government structure and organization to eliminate duplicative responsibilities and functions, improve customer service, and make better use of 21st-century technology to deliver services.
