

Credit Unions Support Members Affected by the Federal Government Shutdown

Credit unions are offering financial assistance and payment flexibility for members impacted by the federal government shutdown. Members are encouraged to contact their credit union directly to determine eligibility and explore available relief programs. Many credit unions also provide free financial counseling to help those facing financial challenges.

A variety of financial assistance options may be available, including:

- Emergency low-interest loans
- 0% APR relief line of credit for 60 days
- Penalty-free share certificate withdrawals
- Payment deferrals on existing loans
- Line of credit increases
- 90-day interest-free unsecured personal loans
- Loan adjustments on a case-by-case basis
- Short-Term Loans Based on a Prior Pay Stub
- Increased credit card and credit line limits

For more details, please reach out to your credit union directly. You can find more information by visiting the MD|DC Credit Union Association's consumer resource page at mddccua.org

The MD|DC Credit Union Association is a regional trade association representing credit unions and their 2.6 million members in Maryland, the Washington Metro area, and Delaware.
